

WISDOM

"Life - it's not about waiting for the storm to pass, it's about learning to dance in the rain."

Unknown

How do you acquire wisdom? It is a growth that takes place through life experiences, trials and tribulations. As you walk through every storm and trust the process and the lessons that you are going through, you will in time hold the knowledge that there is something amazing waiting for you on the other side. This is where the seeds of true wisdom develop and blossom.

When you look at someone going through a tough situation, yet they seem so calm and peaceful, you find yourself asking: how do they do that? It seems impossible, I don't know if I could!

Know that it requires trust and a deep knowing that we are not in control of our destiny. If you can place your trust in the hands of the Divine Light of God and know that you will find the treasure - "The Rainbow" - on the other side, you will be able to acquire the peace and security you need in order to prevail and reach the mission that God has so carefully prepared you for.

There is an amazing defined plan that includes all of us and is much bigger than you can ever imagine. You must be willing to surrender to find your true purpose.

When you have found that place, it feels the same as when you have come home from a long trip. It feels amazing, it feels comfortable, it feels secure, it feels like home and you just know you are right where you belong.

Remember, it's not as much about where you are going, as it is the process of getting there.

Daily Affirmation

I place my trust in you God, knowing that you will take my hand and lead me where I will shine my light and serve a higher purpose.
